Outline of Each Technical Session

issues expected to be addressed and possible brief for speakers

Technical Session 1:

- Energy resources and the environment
  This will allow for a discussion on climate change impacts, the potential role of nuclear power and options for sustainable energy mixes in different national conditions. It will include discussion on energy, social, economical, environmental and development issues, and the potential role of nuclear energy.

Technical Session 2:

- Available technology and the long term perspectives
  What technology is available now and is expected to be available in the near future, and what are the long term perspectives. This will include discussion of current designs, the availability of manufacturing facilities, potential technical impediments to expansion programmes, improving safety levels in new designs, the future availability and potential role of different reactor designs. The latter could also include a discussion of the use of nuclear energy for non electricity producing applications such as desalination or process heat. The discussion will also address safety, security and safeguards requirements associated with the increasing use of nuclear energy, including technological and institutional issues and solutions.
Technical Session 3:

- Infrastructure development and the long term perspectives

This will provide an opportunity to discuss the range of infrastructure challenges that countries considering introducing nuclear power may face, and the options available to meet these challenges. Considerations of the implications of infrastructure development for achieving safety and regulatory objectives will also be discussed. The legal issues associated with preparing for a nuclear energy programme will also be addressed.

Technical Session 4:

- Reliable fuel supply, spent fuel and waste management.

This will provide for discussions on the security of energy supply in general, addressing current and future trends in the availability of nuclear fuel, including the security of nuclear fuel supply. This topic will also allow for discussions about options to reduce the spread of spent fuel and waste storage facilities. The role of national and international organizations and of industry in supporting nuclear energy development will also be discussed.
PARTICIPATION IN IAEA SCIENTIFIC MEETINGS

Governments of Member States and those organizations whose activities are relevant to the meeting subject matter are invited to designate participants in IAEA scientific conferences and symposia. In addition, the IAEA itself may invite a limited number of scientists as invited speakers. Only participants designated or invited in this way are entitled to present papers and take part in the discussions.

Representatives of the press, radio, television or other information media and members of the public, the latter as “observers”, may also be authorized to attend, but without the right to take part in the proceedings.

Scientists interested in participating in any of the IAEA meetings should request information from the Government authorities of their own countries, in most cases the Ministry of Foreign Affairs or national atomic energy authority.

PUBLICATIONS

Proceedings

The proceedings of the conference, containing the opening addresses, Ministerial statements, technical presentations, and the subsequent discussions, will be published on CD ROM by the IAEA as soon as possible after the conference.
